PREPARE—FOR WHAT?

By JOHN C. KRAUS

This is the commencement season. The commencement of what? That is the question in the minds of a million young people who are graduating from our schools and another 130,000 who are stepping out from our colleges and universities. The same question is in the minds of the parents and relatives of these young people. Judging from the plight of the more than 3,000,000 other youths who received diplomas in the four previous depresssion years and who are without jobs, and many of them in financial distress, the class of 1935, under the same economic conditions, is destined to meet a similar fate. To most of these 1,130,000 youths it will mean a commencement of disheartening idleness; a discouraging, vain search for a chance to put a foot on the first rung of the ladder of success.

We told them to prepare—for what? We told these young people to get an education, to prepare themselves to do useful work after they leave school. But alas! They find themselves "all dressed up and no

SATURDAY

Saturday morning, Beatrice Colton again lectures at the Gallery, and the evening concert at Sunset auditorium opens with a Concerto for two pianos and orchestra with Winifred Howe and Alice Austin as soloists and Gaston Usigli conducting the orchestra. Steen Sconhoit will sing Arias from the St. Matthew Passion with cello obligato played by Cesare Claudio.

SUNDAY

On Sunday morning, Beatrice Colton will close her series of lectures at the Gallery, and the evening concert will take place at historic old Carmel Mission. A Sonata for flute and piano will be presented by Grace Thomas and Ernst Bacon.

Doris Ballard and Rita Lorraine will be soloists in a Concerto for two violins with orchestral accompaniment, conducted by Ernst Bacon.

CARMEL MAKING RECORD ON TAXES

Carmel unsecured personal property taxes, aside from automobiles, are almost 100 per cent collected, according to Thomas Hefling, deputy assessor.

"Out of over 300 entries involving over $2,000," he states, "there is but one unpaid, and this payment is promised soon."

These tax payments are due March 4 each year, but there is no penalty until after December 1. Area includes only that inside the city.

In commenting on tax clearance of automobiles, Hefling sounded a warning.

"Property owners usually have their auto tax included with their other property. Nevertheless, they must bring their white registration slips to city and county assessors to get the "tax clear" stamps. Without these two stamps, no new license plates may be secured the first of the year."

After January 1, 1935 the tax on automobiles will be paid at the time of buying license plates, rate to be $1.75 per $100 of car valuation.

NEW WORK ASKED BY CARMEL BOARD

Minor construction at Sunset school was the main consideration of the Carmel district school trustees in their regular meeting Wednesday night.

Application to SERA county officials will be made for workers to paint the primary rooms and the kindergarten. Also to finsh the two unfinished class rooms.

C. J. Ryland, architect, will be supervisor for the room project. Guy C. Koepp, architect, will supervise the new fireproof building that will house the heating plant. This is also an SERA project.

As announced previously, additions to next year's faculty were passed on at a special meeting last month. They were Miss Bernice Riley, graduate of San Francisco Teachers college, to work in the primary grades, and Mrs. Ann Uzzell, Carmel.

An open budget meeting will be held at the school August 5, at 7:45 p. m., and the next regular meeting of the board is August 8, 7:45 p. m.

TWO ELECTIONS COMING

County Clerk Carol Joy and his deputies have mailed out sample ballots for the courthouse bond election and the state election. They have prepared 52,000 ballots, 21,000 for each election. The courthouse bond election will be held on August 5 and the state election takes place on August 13.

Pinion Players Winning Favor

If you have had your fill of the artificiality of the screen for a time and long for a return of the legitimate stage with its good old humor and pathos expressed in real life by genuine artists, the Sun would recommend to you that you spend a night at the Carmel Playhouse where the Pinon Players are holding forth with a repertoire of new and old time plays. The versatility of the players seems to be unbounded. They give you farce comedy, sparkling repartee and emotional melodrama with equal facility and artistry.

Their latest presentation, "Mrs. Moonlight," was a fascinating story which evoked repeated applause and moistened many an eye.

As a young woman, Sarah Moonlight wished never to lose her youth and beauty, that she might always keep the love of her husband.

When she realizes that her wish has been granted, and that her youth is slowly separating her from Tom Moonlight, she disappears, leaving a note that she has taken her life. Seventeen years later she comes back disguised to save her daughter from an unhappy marriage, and again in 30 years she reappears at her husband's death bed.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" is on the boards for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights, with a matinee for the children at 2:30 p. m. on Saturday.

place to go." They have the education but no place to use it. They knock on the door of opportunity and are told that there are no jobs for them; that machines have retired 10,000,000 workers without pay, for whom there never will be another job under our present economic set-up.

It is one of the fruits of the depression. The enforced idleness of four million of our young people between the ages of 18 and 25 presents one of the gravest problems the depression has brought. It represents a waste of one of the nation's greatest assets—its youth—and carries with it the peril of breaking down the character and morale of generations. Up to 1930, young people leaving school had relatively little difficulty finding steady work and their place in society to which their character and abilities entitled them.

So long as four million of our citizens who still work, after having reached the age of 60 years and done their part in the building up of this nation to where it is classed as the richest on earth—so long as these old people are forced to work to keep body and soul together, while 4,000,000 young people are forced into involuntary idleness, so long will we as a nation be doing things wrong-end-to, and so long will the depression continue and our young people be deprived of the "break" that is so justly due them.

There is one and only one solution for the present youth problem of our United States. It is very simple; so simple in fact that the people whom we sent to Washington to occupy the seats of the mighty do not or cannot or will not see it. Briefly, the solution is to retire those past 60 who are holding the 4,000,000 jobs that the 4,000,000 young people should have. There is no other way.

How It Can Be Done

It can be done by our national government enacting into law and putting into operation the Townsend Plan of annuities.

Let every young man and young woman who really wants to get a start in life get behind the Townsend Plan and help put it over in the next session of Congress.

DANCE IN CARMEL SATURDAY NIGHT

The Carmel Townsend Club has arranged to give a dance next Saturday night in the lunch room of Sunset school. Music will be provided by Ben Phillips and his players. This is sufficient to assure all lovers of the dance that they will have good music. A committee also will provide sandwiches and coffee for those who wish refreshments. The admission price to the dance is 25 cents for ladies and 40 cents for gentlemen. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend. Whatever is earned above expenses will be sent to National Townsend headquarters to be used in extending to work of organization in the Townsend movement for ending the depression.

Come to Townsend club meeting, lunch room Sunset School, Monday, 8 p. m.

Mrs. Hoffman, who had planned to present her historical Spanish program as a part of the entertainment during the Carmel Mission Bazaar, was unable to do so because of the illness of three of her principal performers, but she hopes to be able to produce her play in Carmel at an early date.

RESTORATION PLANS FOR BURNED CARMEL THEATRE ARE BEING PROMULGATED

Restoration of the Theater of the Golden Bough, Carmel's famed playhouse partly destroyed by fire several weeks ago, is being undertaken by a committee of representative village residents. It is their purpose to restore the house as nearly as possible as it was before the fire, but with better ventilating and heating equipment and a larger stage. Seating capacity will be the same.

Policy of the playhouse will be continued as before, offering dramatic productions directed by E. G. Kuster and others, including guest producers and players, motion pictures, concerts and recitals.

Mayor James H. Thoburn heads the committee, other members of which include J. E. Abernethy, Charles Berkey, Fritz Wurzmann, J. L. Cockburn, Captain Pat Hudgins, J. F. Todd, Senator E. H. Tickle, W. W. Wheeler, Byington Ford, Harold Nielsen and Fred Godwin.

Funds contributed will be held in escrow until sufficient money is raised.

Last Monday night the large lunch room was filled to capacity. Dr. G. F. Fink of Watsonville delivered a stirring address in support of the movement and reported that the Townsend plan is spreading with remarkable force into every state of the union.

Five and Ten Store Opened

Carmel's newest store in Carmel's newest building at the corner of Ocean and San Carlos was opened Friday.

"Carmel 5c to $1 Store" is owned and managed by Victor Graham.

Graham came to Carmel several months ago and began negotiations for the building of the new edifice which now occupies a commanding spot in the art colony's skyline. He was formerly associated with the J. J. Newberry Co. in Kentucky and previously with the J. C. Penney Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co.

With his family he had visited Carmel each summer for many years past and became so attached to the locality that he selected it for his permanent residence.

OWN HOME HERE

Graham, his wife and two children are now established in their recently purchased home.

The new building will include, in addition to the new store, a realty office, three professional offices and three modern furnished apartments.

Locally Designed, Built

It was designed by Guy Koepp, prominent Carmel architect, who has planned countless other business buildings and residences in Carmel, including La Rambla and the Carmel Dairy.

M. J. Murphy, Inc., were general contractors and sub-contractors were the A. D. H. Co., plumbing, heating and sheet metal, and Frank Overhulse, plaster work.

An interesting and substantial feature of the construction is found in that all sheet metal is of 16-ounce copper with life-time flashing. This was installed by the A. D. H. Company.

The entire building will be opened about August 1, according to present plans.

The firm of Bostick and Wood negotiated the lease of the property and construction of the building by the owner, Mrs. Mary A. Goold.
